PRELIMINARY HEARING TOMORROW FOR ARRUDA; CONFESSED MURDERER

Was Arraigned Monday Before Judge Norris At Centerville

Arested as the slayer of Joseph Faria and his son, Joseph, Jr., Manuel Arruda, 36, was this Monday arraigned before Judge Allen G. Norris, at the Centerville courthouse. Preliminary examination will be held at the Centerville court tomorrow afternoon.

Arruda, taken by New England police in Holyoke, Massachussets, two weeks ago, confessed the killings, it is said, and waived extradition. Sheriff M. D. Driver went east and returned with the alleged murderer last week.

The killing took place last September on the Faria place north of Newark. Arruda, returning after several years service with the marine corps, slew his step father and step brother, when he concluded they had hastened his mother's death by ill treatment. The two Farias were shot in the back.

A younger brother with Arruda at the time of the crime, has not been apprehended.

DECOTO CHAMBER PLANS ANNUAL BARBECUE

County officials and other prominent people in Alameda county will be guests of the Decoto Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, March 21, when that group holds its annual chicken barbecue.

Last year the number of guests far exceeded the number of members in the civic group, and the affair was hailed as one of the most enjoyable to be held in the region. Preparations are hnder way at the present time, in order that there will be no hitch, in the culinary aspect when the time comes. The chief cook will be Walter Walker.

LOCAL FIRE CHIEFS INSPECT COUNTY BUILDINGS

In order that the alleged fire hazards of the old county buildings could be pointed out to them, fire chiefs of Washington township departments were invited to attend a tour of inspection yesterday conducted by Chief William T. Lutkey, in Oakland.

The group, among chiefs from all other departments in Alameda county, met at the Athens Athletic Club for luncheon, after which they were taken to view the county structures.

The chiefs who were invited from this district were: Tony Alves, of Niles; Fred Rogers, of Centerville; Roland Bendel, of Decoto; I. Whitfield, of Mission San Jose, and J. E. Pashote, of Newark.

PETER J. CROSBY TO RUN FOR COUNTY JUDGESHIP

Peter J. Crosby, Oakland attorney, and a native and former resident of Washington township, last week announced his candidacy for judge of the superior court of Alameda county, department Number 2. He was the first candidate for any office to be filled this year to formally submit his name to the electorate.

"I am offering my name as a candidate for superior judge of this county at the coming election", said Crosby. "I feel taat my long experience as a member of the bar, and my deep interest in the administration of justice qualify me for the position."

Crosby, who is a native of Centerville and a graduate of the University of Michigan, was admitted to the bar in 1895. He has been an attorney for 35 years. He has served as president of the California State Bar. His home is in Hayward.

NILES MAN TO BE ARRAIGNED FOR BATTERY

Said to have been in trouble several times before, Jose Morilla, of Niles, will be arraigned tomorrow afternoon before Judge J. A. Silva at the Niles justice court, on a charge of battery brought Monday by his wife, Amalia.

Alleged to have struck her, when he returned home Saturday night after several months' absence, Morilla was taken into custody on his wife's complaint late Saturday evening. Warrant for the alleged wife-beater's arrest was issued Saturday. Preliminary hearing was held Monday afternoon at the Niles court. Bail was set at $100, and Morilla was committed to the county jail to await arraignment tomorrow.

Morilla served twenty days in the county jail on a similar charge in 1932. Later in the same year he was charged with failure to provide for minor children and held to answer before the superior court. He was given a sentence of ninety days for the last offense.

Today Last Day For Filing Income Tax

Today is the last day for filing federal income tax reports for 1933, without paying a 25 per cent penalty in addition to the tax amount, according to press releases received Tuesday.

At least one quarter of the tax must be paid with the filing of the report. The balance may be paid in quarterly payments throughout the year.

Dan Marble was a business visitor in Oakland Friday afternoon.

STREAMLINED TRAIN TO VISIT NILES MONDAY NIGHT

Hailed as the latest method of rail transportation, and forecast as the future design of all trains, the Union Pacific steamlined train will pass slowly through Niles Monday night at 8:49 p. m., according to a notice received this week by Harvey Braun, local Southern Pacific agent.

Scheduled to leave San Jose at 8:20 p. m., the modern rail monarch will enter Niles on the main line from Irvington. It will slow up for switching in the Niles yards, Braun said. No stops will be made other than at stations designated on its itinerary, but it will pass through other stations at a pace that will allow a good idea of its appearance. It will be on display at First and Broadway, in Oakland, on Tuesday, March 20.

Made of duraluminum, and fully steamlined, the new train is capable of traveling at sustained speeds of above 100 miles per hour. Its weight is less than that of one of the old type Pullman cars.

Ensign Home Previous To East Coast Cruise

Allen M. Shinn, ensign, of the U. S. S. Tennessee, arrived in Niles Monday for a short stay with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Shinn. His visit will be the last previous to a cruise to the east coast. The fleet will return in the fall, Shinn stated.

On Monday night, Shinn gave a brief talk to the citizenship class at the Washington Union High school night school.

IRVINGTON RANCHER ENDS LIFE BY GAS POISONING THURSDAY

Suicide Attributed to Despondency Over Failing Health

The second of two suicides in Washington township last week, Henry E. Strassler, 66, of Irvington, was discovered dead in the cab of his truck Thursday evening. He had ended his life by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Discovery of the body was made by a neighbor, Joe Rose. Notes found after investigation attributed the act to ill health. The notes were left to Strassler's wife, Francis, and to Lee Vorse. The deceased had attached a hose to the exhaust pipe of his truck then enclosed himself with the end of the hose in the cab. He had been dead several hours when found.

Strassler, a native of Pennsylvania, had lived in California for forty-five years. He had been a resident of Irvington for fifteen years. He had been engaged in ranching during that time.

Funeral was held Saturday at 2:00 p. m. from the Chapel of Palms in Centerville with cremation following at the California Crematorium in Oakland. Strasser is survived by his wife.

Strassler's suicide followed two days after the body of M. G. Dias, of Centerville, was found hung in the Dias barn.

Miss Gladys Rose, accompanied by her brother, Chester Rose, spent a pleasant week-end driving to Reno and back. They left Friday night and returned Sunday.

ANNUAL WILDFLOWER DISPLAY SLATED FOR MIDDLE OF APRIL

Species Flourishing This Spring; Show Hailed As Best Yet

Plans for the annual wildflower show, sponsored by the Niles Chamber of Commerce, got under way Tuesday night at a committee meeting at the home of general chairman, J. E. Townsend.

The following duties were assigned and sub-committees formed: General chairman, J. E. Townsend; W. B. Kirk, weeds, forage plants; A. J. Petsche, correspondence, advertising, mailing; E. D. Bristow, decorations; Jack Williamson, publicity; E. E. Dias and A. M. Alves, signs and construction; O. W. Ebright, Marston Dassel and Frank Nunes, collection of specimens; George Rose, collection and display of ferns.

Slated for Sunday and Monday, April 15 and 16, the sixth annual show will be held in the show rooms of the Rose garage, Niles. Excellent spring weather gives promise of a larger display this year with a number of rare specimens possibly displayed for the first time. Volunteer collectors may leave their names wtih A. J. Petsche.

Decoto Fire Fighters Get Additional Hose

A fire department without sufficient hose is like a soda without a straw, os Roland Bendel, Decoto chief, is taking n chances with his charges being caught with all their hose on the drying racks. He has purchased an additional 600 feet of the webbed stuff. With two changes of hose, the Decoto department could subdue blazes seven days a week and never get their hands wet.

WOODCRAFT CIRCLE INITIATES 12 LAST NIGHT

Twelve new members were initiated into the Hazel Circle No. 598, of the Neighbors of Woodcraft last night at ceremonies held at the Odd Fellows' hall, Niles.

The additional membership, gained through the initiation will make the local organization one of the largest of the district circles.

Initiation ceremonies were conducted by the district degree team from the Fruitvale circle. Guests from the Concord, Hayward, San Leandro, Fruitvale, San Lorenzo, Oakland and Pleasanton circles attended. District Organizer Laura Woods, of the grand lodge was present.

The hall was suitably decorated in the lodge colors. Refreshments were served.

Those who were initiated were: Frank Davila, Edward Mederios, LaVerne Perry, Viola Rose, Emma Alves, Ed. Martin, Julius Pine, Manuel Franco, Joseph Martin, Antone Franco, Doris Destrella, and Ramona Mello.

The Rev. Mr. Wseley Gordon and Mrs. Gordon, recently of Sonoma, have taken up their residence in the Congregational parsonage in Niles. The Rev. Mr. Gordon delivered his first sermon last Sunday.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

By NORMAN H. PARKS, Publisher Register

CAN THEY REACH HIM?

Announcement that the Roosevelt administration, through its attorney general, would move against Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasurer under Hoover, on income tax evasion charges is as startling as it is meritorious. The political courage to bring to the bar of justice men of great wealth has been shamelessly wanting in the United States for a generation,—in fact, from the very time great wealth began to accumulate in individual hands.

This will be one gesture of the much publicized new deal that the writer will approve wholeheartedly; and concurring in his approbation will, we believe, be practically every American who has not quite a million dollars.

The most reprehensible activities of the Mellon regime, according to our opinion, was not that he himself may have evaded just income tax levies, but that he refunded millions upon millions of collected taxes to men and corporations upon the specious assumption that they had made errors in the preparation of their income reports. How ridiculous the supposition of such incompetency upon the part of experts handsomely compensated that their rich clients might pay the government the very least under the most liberal and elastic interpretation of the tax act.

An individual of moderate means, preparing his own statement, might be expected to err. Unschooled in legal subterfuge and with an eye untrained in detecting technical loopholes, it would not be strange that the little man might make errors against his own interests. But to suppose that the legal counsel of practically every millionaire in this country made mistakes at the serious expense of those who willingly paid them princely, is just too laughable to treat seriously.

Mellon doubtless was as parsimonious in estimating the taxes of his family's billion—the reputed wealth of all the Mellon brothers, uncles and sons—as he was generous in emptying the treasury for the benefit of people already burdened with too much gold for the country's good.

The writer will watch with keen interest the progress of this suit and others instituted against men of vast holdings. If they prove successful, and upon conviction, the evaders are treated as common criminals, we will know—though stranger than fiction—that in fact a new day has been born in America, and humanity and virtue are mightier than the fist of greed.

BACK IN FIGHTING TRIM

The editor of the Township Register returned Saturday from a rapid trip as far south as the International line at Mexicali, Baja California. However, we stayed on this side of the line, and confined our visiting to Calexico and other Imperial Valley towns. Not that it is necessarily a questionable diversion to play around in Mexicali; the place does not interest us. We lived close by for a good many years and the novelty of the thing wore off. Vice there is of a very low type. It is arrayed in shoddy raiment and patronized by the scum of humanity. Most of the Americans engaged in vice activities dare not cross to the American side. They are "wanted" men. The business part of the town is a huge racket, and the American visitors are viewed, quite properly, as suckers. The whole place is dishonest, but the worst part of it, the set-up is vile and low-brow.

Only a few days away from home is a good thing for any man, right now. The average business man is pretty badly down in the dumps. He knows he is in the midst of a depression—how could he know otherwise—yet he is inclined to blame himself if his affairs are going wrong. As bad off as he is told conditions are, still he believes that he is losing his grip, and if he was as smart as he used to be his financial standing would not be so bad.

A trip out into the state or better into other states will prove to him that the sorry plight that he is in is shared by every single business unit in the land. He may find that instead of his affairs

CATTLE THIEF RING HINTED WHEN CALF FOUND BUTCHERED

Santa Clara County Police Aiding In Thorough Investigation

Investigation was under way this week by local police in conjunction with Santa Clara county officers and representatives of the Cattlemen's Association on what is alleged to be a widespread cattle stealing ring. Manifestation of unlawful activities was discovered here Monday, when a calf was found butchered on the Clark ranch, near Niles.

According to authorities, the recent series of thefts, occurring in Santa Clara county may have connections with the nearby discovery.

Cattlestealing, once a popular form of theft, has been gaining during the past few years, according to police.

PEA HARVEST UNDER WAY THIS WEEK IN TOWNSHIP

With the season progressing as one of the best in years, the pea harvest in Washington township will get under way during the latter part of this week when the early varieties in the Mission San Jose district will be ready for picking.

Cultivation has been intensive this spring, farmers say, because of the profusion of weed an grass growth.

The crop is forecast as a heavy one, with the prices teetering at a dubious level. Early peas from the Pismo region, now on the local markets are selling at six cents per pound. It is feared that the maturing of the local crop will cause the price to drop several cents. It is the hope of growers that eastern demand will be heavier this year than it was last.

Frost Warning Service Resumed This Spring

Warning Santa Clara Valley fruit growers that orchard thermometers should be checked and set out during the next week or so, H. D. Linquist, frost warning expert of the United States Weather Bureau, is making preparation to resume observations after a year of inactivity.

The frost warning service was discontinued for reasons of economy last year, but insistent demands of the growers in the frost belt have insured reinstitution of the service.

Although generally little bothered by killing frosts, 'cot growers in Washington township will keep a close watch this spring in view of the fact that a scarcity fo blossoms demands a full set to insure a moderate crop.

Post St. Patrick Dance Slated For Saturday

Members of American Legion Post 195, havng made all possible preliminary arrangements, are awaiting Saturday night, when their second annual St. Patrick's dance will be held at the Memorial Hall in Niles. According to Manuel Swartz, post member, the affair should be an outstanding one. The California Colleens will furnish the music.

DEATH OF CHARLES BRUCE IS MOURNED BY MANY FRIENDS

With his skull crushed and right arm broken, the lifeless body of Charles A. Bruce, 28, of Pleasanton, was found in his Ford coupe alongside Road 2000, a mile and a half from Pleasanton late last Sunday night. The car had been wrecked by a collision with a tree by the road.

Discovery of the body was made by Ernest Hall, a friend of the deceased. Hall summoned Dr. Richard Heinz, who declared the unfortuate man had probably been instantly killed. The remains were taken in charge by Deputy Coroner Charles S. Graham and brought to Pleasanton.

Monday morning a coroner's jury, consisting of A. B. Pickard, foreman, W. T. Davis, Martin Monighetti, Paul Pelle, Angelo Uliana and Joseph Secada, after listening to the testimony of witnesses, rendered a verdict to the effect that death was due to an accident.

According to the testimony of Jimmy George, restaurant proprietor, young Bruce had entered his place of business about 10:30 Sunday night, and after talking a few minutes, asked permission to use the telephone. He called the Baldwin ranch, where his friend, Hall, was visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Wray Bergstrom.

After a few minutes conversation, declared George, Bruce announced his intention of driving to the Baldwin ranch for a visit.

Ernest Hall, at the inquest, described how a telephone message had been received from the lad, and how the company waited about half hour for him to come.

When Bruce failed to appear, Hall, accompanied by his wife, drove in their car toward home. On Road 2000, near the entrance to the property of the San Francisco Water Company, Hall saw an antomobile against the fence. Recognizing it as the automobile belonging to his friend he stopped his car and got out to investigate.

"I pulled the door of the car open," said Hall "and found Charlie slumped over on the right hand side of the seat. There was blood on the seat and on his head. I felt for his pulse and found that he was dead. Then I summoned the doctor.

Just how the accident occurred is a matter of conjecture. There is a decided curve in the highway at the place where the car ran off the road and struck a tree. The belief is expressed by some that the driver ran into a bank of fog and was momentarily blinded.

Funeral services were held at the family home on Second street Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. Robert C. Cross, pastor of the Pleasanton Presbyterian church, conducted the services. The remains were then taken to Oakland for cremation.

Charles Bruce, Jr., was born in Pleasanton twenty-eight years ago. He was the beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Bruce, a prominent South Alameda county family. He was a gradute of the Pleasanton Grammar school, attended the Livermore High school and graduated from the Amador Valley High school. He was the first student body president of the latter high school. He also attended the University of California.

He was married a few years ago to Mary Brockway Metcalf, of Piedmont, who died shortly after their marriage. Since then he has made his home with his parents in Pleasanton.

During his lifetime in this valhe became known to practically every resident of this section. A young man of genial disposition and generous nature he made friends wherever he went. In his home he was a devoted son and a loving brother.

Aside from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Bruce, he is mourned by two brothers, Robin A. Bruce and C. Allan Bruce, all of Pleasanton.

Pleasanton Health Center Releases February Report

Children of the Pleasanton township schools were given a dental survey by the Pleasanton township health center during the month of February according to a report released by Miss Barbara Bradley, health nurse.

Aside from the dental survey inspections of vision, hearing and throat were made. Miss Bradley also weighed and measured one hundred seventy-three school children.

The report in detail for the month of February is as follows:

Bachelor of Arts

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is sometimes indicated by A. B. and again by B. A. This variation in the order of the letters in the abbreviation of the degree of Bachelor of Arts arose from the fact that the degree was orginally written in Latin, and in that language the order of the words is not so essential to the sense as it is in the English. In Latin Artium Baccalaureus and Baccalaureus Artium, both meaning Bachelor of Arts, are equally correct.

HELEN HOLMES didn't feel so happy. She had a romantic nature and she longed for a cozy, rose-covered cottage in the suburbs, a flower garden to cultivate, and a tall, broad-shouldered, tanned man to welcome home each night. It so happened that Helen was really what some old maids would call a model young girl.

Day after day she conscientiously typed away in a Wall Street brokerage firm and calmly refused the dinner invitations tendered her by one of the elder men of the office.

She felt pretty bitter about life in general when a friend, Blanche Young, returned from a cruise to Bermuda with an engagement ring in the proper place. And to make it worse Blanche informed every one that the newly discovered male—one Eddie Williams—and she were to be married within a month.

Here was what she had dreamed of for so long, enacted in real life—but, to somebody else. But after a few days she grew less bitter about it all and decided that if such things did happen, perhaps her time would come before too long. She knew that she was every bit as attractive as Blanche. And she had some money saved, so why not a cruise to Bermuda or some such place for herself?

Blanche Young's luck at catching a good-looking and sensible man had exerted a great influence over Helen. She realized that Blanche had really taken the right way.

So, one day, when she was feeling exceptionally carefree and jubilant, she asked the office manager for a six weeks' leave of absence for a long cruise. As luck would have it, her request was granted. Immediately she withdrew all her savings—six hundred dollars. For two hundred dollars she secured passage to London on a small but respectable merchant steamer.

The first day at sea was ideal. Helen was so happy and relaxed after years of work in an office that she almost forgot the main reason why she had staked her all on the trip to London and back.

Nevertheless, as she watched the deck tennis and shuffle-board games on the deck, Helen took accurate regard of all the young men present. Of the ones she scrutinized there were only two, she decided with a woman's intuition, that would take the place of all the Lochinvars she had dreamed of. And only one of the eligible males, Helen decided, was the type that would want a home with a pretty wife to prepare his meals. He was a serious looking man of about thirty-five, tanned, well built and genial in appearance. The other man who qualified was busy playing deck tennis. He had all the appearance of a college athlete, intent upon having a swell vacation at his father's expense. But the fact must be told, that he alone of all the men on deck, had seemed to notice Helen and be impressed by her appearance.

Then, all of a sudden, the other man whose appearance Helen had admired, turned to her and said: "Shall we take the winners on for a game of deck tennis?"

"I'd love to!" replied Helen, saying to herself that Lady Luck at last was her good friend.

As the trip progressed Helen and her newly found, tanned, thirty-five-year-old male acquaintance played deck tennis together every day. He was always polite and courteous—yes, even friendly. But that was as far as things went. Nights, instead of being with the older man, she danced and walked on deck with the young, sentimental college youth.

Things went along like that until the night before they docked at London. On that night Helen missed her college student-dancer at the farewell dance. Feeling a little disappointed, she retired to the deck where she sat in a deck chair and admired the stars and the moon.

Suddenly from nowhere came "Hello, Helen!" She lifted her glance from the stars to discover who had approached her. And it was her deck tennis partner—the one man who seemed anxious to find a young woman to share his home.

"Helen," he said, as he dragged her out of the deck chair and over to the rail, "I've been looking for you. It's too late for deck tennis—so I thought we might play a game of love. I want you for my partner always."

"Do you like rose-covered cottages with gardens, and with a wife waiting there nights with a home-cooked meal for you?" whispered Helen, as she edged closer to her friend.

"Darned right I do," was his ready response.

"Well, I guess this game of love is all right, then. But let's make it soon."

"Tomorrow we'll be in London, and that's where I'm stationed for a year or so. You won't mind living in London, will you, Helen, darling?"

"Never—you see, I only purchased a one-way ticket."

THE telephone bell clattered with raucous insistence. Collins hunched up on an elbow, swearing vaguely, and squinted toward the clock. Its luminous face showed 2:10. Another jangle. He stumbled across the room, and picked up the instrument.

The voice in his ear was crisply energetic: "Hello, Collins. This is Barnes, night city editor. Say, we just tuned in on a police call sending a patrol car to investigate a woman screaming, and it's right in your neighborhood. 590 Franklin. How about hopping over there quick? Might be a real story in it."

"All right—all right."

Three minutes of fast moving had him dressed and headed out. The fourth building from the corner had 590 in gilt letters across its glass door, with: "Berkeley Arms," underneath.

Collins went up the short walk and tried the knob. It didn't turn. He moved across the grass past the building's front corner. From the unlighted side, a fire escape's zigzag skeleton loomed. Suddenly, from somewhere above, came a woman's brief, low cry.

Swiftly he went forward, stopping beneath the fire escape's lowest platform. A swing, a jerk and he was standing on the iron slats.

With a swift move he went on, up the steps to the third floor platform. Here only curtains screened the window. Beyond it, the gloom was unbroken and no sound reached Collins. He started for the stairs ahead—and then pulled sharply back. From just within the room, a little spot of orange had glowed and gone again. A man spoke, low and intense:

"Mary, listen to me! I'm sorry I frightened you, dear. I didn't dream you'd be asleep, or I'd have knocked instead of using my key."

A woman's voice, soft and a little breathless, said: "Oh, it's—it's all right now. But this isn't fair of you, Tom. You shouldn't be here. I told you the other night—"

Passionately, the man broke in: "Oh, I know what you told me—that's why I had to come, as soon as I knew that your—that he'd gone to the sanitarium. Mary, you can't do this thing—do you hear me? God, it's not as if I were pleading for something that was mine alone! It's been all that mattered in life for both of us, and everything that can ever count is gone if we don't carry it through as we planned. You know that!"

An instant's silence, in which the cigarette lived again. Then the woman answered. "Tom, it's hard—so terribly hard! I wanted to tell you all I felt and thought about—about us, and why we couldn't go on. Somehow, though, I knew it wouldn't do any good; that I might as well just say it and not try to explain. But now—oh, darling!"—her voice was cloudy with tears—"I do love you so!"

A pause. Then she went on, more calmly. "I just know now that I must try to make you understand. Tom, I can't leave Martyn, because it would kill him. Oh, it would be different if he were—were normal. But don't you see, he'd believe I did it because of that. I loved him, Tom—I think I did—when we married. How could he ever understand that his accident has nothing to do with the change in my heart? Every minute of his life, every word he's written, in these last five years has been for me. When he's away, for these treatments, all he seems to think of is my happiness. Each time he returns with some plan or surprise to please me. Tom, do you see now why I can't go away from him?"

"Well, I guess there's nothing for me to say, except good-by. I—I think I'd better go at once."

Abrupt movements and the sound of a doorknob turning. A shaft of light fell suddenly across the bed, and Collins saw her.

Then the latch clicked shut and beyond the window was black again. Collins straightened and turned toward the iron stairs.

Home, he lit a cigarette and dropped in a chair by the phone table. Staring ahead at nothing in particular, his face was speculative. At last he tore a sheet from the memo pad beside him, took out a pencil, and scribbled across it:

"Lover Visits Prominent Woman
As Writer-Husband Absent.

An instant's thought; then, underneath:

"Wife of Martyn French, Well-Known Invalid Novelist, Surprised in Secret Rendezvous."

For a moment he looked critically down at the words, amusement tinging his lips. Then he picked up the phone and spun its dial. When contact came, he said, "Hello—Barnes. . . . Collins speaking. Say, what the h—l is this—a gag? I've been snooping around that joint for half an hour. There's not a thing stirring."

The answer came with swift contrition.

"Collins, old man, I'm terribly sorry; I handed you a raw deal. Just plain stupid of me not to notice. That address was 590 South Franklin!"

The Sam Browne Belt

The Sam Browne belt took its name from its originator, Gen. Samuel Browne of the British army. In the fall of 1858, during the Indian mutiny, General Browne lost his left arm. It was the loss of this arm which prompted him to devise a new belt to aid in supporting his saber. This belt, with some modifications, was later adopted by his fellow officers.

First Sport for Women

It was in 1833 that America first heard of croquet, which had just become a rage in England. This is the first sport that feminine America participated in to any extent. However, women were interested spectators at races and their sisters in the sparsely settled sections could handle a gun expertly.

"The Mills of the Gods"

In his book, "Retribution," Friedrich von Logau says, "Though the mills of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceedingly small." Longfellow's translation of this poem will be found in his "Poetic Aphorisms." The saying is also attributed to Plutarch and others.

Most Kissed Man

The most kissed man in the world was Captain Edgar. He was stage doorkeeper at the Metropolitan Opera house, New York, for twenty years, and it became a ritual for every actress entering and leaving the theater to unlock the door with a kiss.

U. S. Took Over Salt Springs

About the middle of last century several salt springs in Ohio, centering in Morgan, Athens and Meigs counties, were of such great value that they were reserved by the national government to prevent a monopoly in this necessity.

Action of the Brain

The Bandbox

The bandbox dates back probably 200 to 300 years. It takes its name from the fact that the box is made out of a wide circular band of paper or pasteboard with top and bottom added. The name of the inventor is unknown.

Women Do the Bossing

Women are bosses in the Basque village of Beremo, because the men spend most of their time fishing. If a man gets out of hand the women throw him into the sea and let him swim ashore.

No Chance to Know Then

So vague were men's ideas of world geography 2,300 years ago that Alexander the Great thought the Indus river, in India, must be the headwaters of the Nile.

Accidental Deaths

Statisticians find that the death rate from accidents in the home is declining so far as children are concerned, but is steadily rising for adults.

Alaska Once Tropical

Scientists find that Alaska once enjoyed a subtropical climate. Their conclusions are based on ancient fossils contained in the coal mined there.

Great Chance for Women

One of the world's greatest resources and assets of the future lies in the still only partially developed and utilized powers of gifted women.

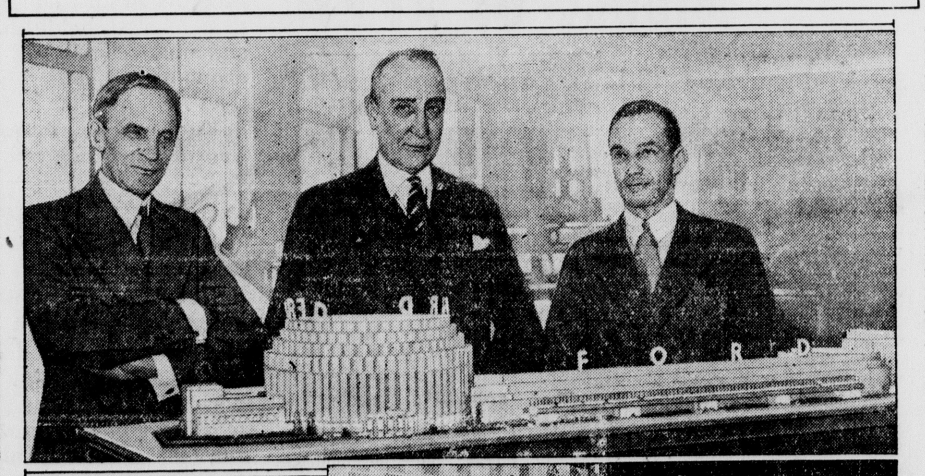
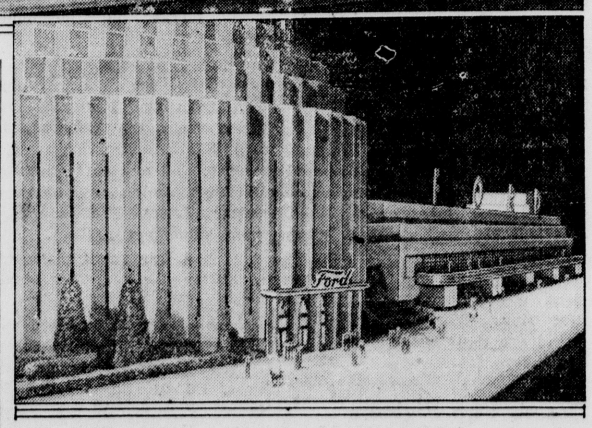
FORD TO BUILD HUGE EXPOSITION AT THE 1934 CHICAGO WORLD'S FAIR





Henry Ford and Edsel B. Ford show to Rufus C. Dawes (center), president of the World's Fair, the scale model of the giant Ford Exposition building to be built at the 1934 Fair. (Lower) The Ford building as it will be seen from Leif Eriksen drive. Opposite the building will be a huge park bordering Lake Michigan.

A GREAT Ford Exposition, portraying the tremendous part the arts, sciences and virtually every other industry plays in the manufacture of today's motor cars, is planned by the Ford Motor Company for the 1934 World's Fair.

The Ford Exposition will be housed in a giant building 860 feet long to be built in the heart of the fair grounds on an 11-acre plot bordering Lake Michigan and flanking the main fair boulevard. Construction of the building will start Mar. 1.

In the dominant central building will be housed Henry Ford's "Drama of Transportation," depicting the development of wheeled vehicles from the chariots of ancient Egyptian kings to modern motor cars. Every model of Ford car made since 1903 will be included.

In the smaller building to the left will be housed some of the priceless historic exhibits from the Edison Institute at Dearborn, Mich., including the one-story brick workshop, complete with the original tools, where Mr. Ford in 1893 built with his own hands his first motor car. This first car will be displayed inside the shop.

The main exposition building will display an imposing array of exhibits, most of them in action, show how steel, aluminum and other metals, soy beans, corn, wool, cotton and other farm products and the products of myriad industries are converted into car parts. The building also will house displays of cars and a big movie theater. Along the east side will be an open-air balcony equipped with chairs and lounges where hundreds may relax.

Across the drive fronting the lake will be a big Ford Park, beautifully landscaped and also fitted with seats and other comforts for fair crowds.

Perry was leading batsman of the day with three out of five. Dutra and Roderick both hit triples.

A great many Alvarado fans attended the game, which was played at the new Centerville ball park.

CORONER'S JURY IS HELD HERE FRIDAY

In order to clear records and enable heirs to collect life insurance, a jury impanelled by Deputy coroner Charles S. Graham last Friday morning, returned a verdict to the effect that William Greuner, 48 years old, died from natural causes.

Greuner, while playing golf at the Castlewood Country club on February 8, dropped dead. An autopsy performed by Dr. Richard Heinz, revealed the fact that death was the result of heart trouble. Member of the family waived the holding of an inquest and their action was approved by Coroner Grant D. Miller.

When an application for the payment of the life insurance policy held by Greuner was made by his heirs, the insurance company demanded that a formal inquest be held and that the age of the deceased and the cause of his death be officially determined by a jury.

JOHNSON'S ALL STARS DEFEAT ELMHURST FIVE

Winning their eighth successive basketball contest, the Johnson's All-Stars, of Pleasanton, defeated the Elmhurst Athletic club in a game played at the Amador gym last Monday evening by a score o 23 to 21.

The game was close with both teams showing equal ability. It was one of the cleanest contests played this season. The Johnson's All-Stars had but two fouls counted against them.

Good shooting was displayed by Bob Silva who was high point man for the evening scoring fourteen points. King and H. Vervais did some good guarding.

Monday evening the All-Stars played the Alpha Pi Beta Fraternity, of Alameda, at the Amador gym.

The lineup was Silva, f, 14; George, f, 4; Azevedo, f, 2; Powers, c, 2; H. and Ed Vervais, King and Soito, guards.

Following the Johnson's All-Star game the Meadowlark Dairy defeated the Marsh's Pickup, a newly organized team, by a score of 25 to 21.

This game was very rough, a number of fouls being called on both teams.

King for the Meadowlark's played a sensational game as forward. He scored eight points. Bill Garcia for Marsh's team was lucky in finding the basket and scored eight points; with Frank Peters and Arendt following with four points.

The Marsh's team lineup was: L. Anselmo and Garcia, forwards; Rosa, center; Nerton and Peters, guards; Arendt, Dutra, Hardy, and J. Anselmo, reserves.

TOWNSHIP FAIR IS FORMALLY SPONSORED BY LIONS TUESDAY

Representatives In Local Towns to be Named Tomorrow Night

Definite steps were taken Tuesday night toward the realization of the Washington Township Fair, when forty members of the Lions Club gathered at the El Lido and voted to sponsor the proposed display.

The executive committee, headed by Chick Santos, was named at the previous meeting. The members are: Santos, Allen G. Norris, Joe Jason, A. Rathbone, Dr. G. S. Holeman and Frank Madruga.

Appointment of representatives and committeemen in surrounding towns will be made tomororw night when the committee will meet for the first time. Those appointed will later meet with the executives to confer on local details, Santos said.

Harold DeLeon and Loren Marriott have been named secretary and treasurer of the fair respectively.

Tentatively slated for the 8, 9, and 10 of June, the fair may be postponed because of conflict with the Livermore rodeo, according to Santos.

Harry Bradford, Hayward postmaster and an authority on the missions of the west, was major speaker at the meet Tuesday night. His address was accompained by slide pictures.

K. C. DEGREE TEAM ACTS AT OAKLAND COUNCIL

Rated as one of the best in the district, the Centerville Council Knights of Columbus degree team last night went to the Magellan council in Oakland, where they put on a first degree ceremony. Members of the team are: John Vasconcellos, Allen G. Norris, M. Lewis and George Kommas.

The meet was held as a gathering of the Grand Knights. E Pimentel, of Centerville, attended.

Plans for a major degree at the Centerville council are under way at the present time.

The Knights Pedro tournament, started last Thursday, will continue for two more meets, after which the winners will be announced.

H. F. Perry, of Centerville, mechanic at the H. P. Garin company, has taken up automobile racing. He will enter a car in the stock car races at the San Jose track.

Assistant Superintendent J. L. Bunker, was a business visitor in Centerville Tuesday afternoon.

HI SCHOOL BASEBALL DIAMOND, TRACK, BEING FIXED

With the majority of the CWA projects in southern Alameda county suspended for the time being, work on the athletic field projects at the Washington Union High school was being carried on last week by three workers. The improvements consisted of the sodding of the baseball diamond, and improving the grounds upon which track and field meets are to be held.

Through the CWA program, the high school has obtained a number of improvements during the winter. A large pit, in which rally bonfires will be burned was among the major jobs undertaken.

With the football field sodded last year, the recent improvements bring the Centerville school's outdoor athletic equipment to a par with any in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lewis and family, of San Francisco, visited in Centerville with relatives and friends Sunday.

GARINTEES WALLOP HAYWARD BARBERS IN FAST GAME

With three out of their four games victories, the Garintees, newly formed Centerville ball club, Sunday added another win when they trounced the Hayward Barbers by an 11 to 2 tally.

J. Maciel, hurler, held the Barbers to three scattered bingles. A. Souza, on the other end of the Garin battery, did some excellent catching. Al Smith, right fielder, was back in the lineup Sunday after a forced layoff with a fractured digit. E. Silva, at shortstop, played the short stretch like a big leaguer.

With their new uniforms on for the first time, the Garintees hope to have a game Sunday with the San Jose Garin branch. The following Sunday the contest will be with the Brentwood branch.

Lineup for Sunday's game was: Brazil, 3b; Faria, cf; Smith, rf; King, 2b; Maciel, p; Silva, ss; Frank Souza, lf; A. Souza, c; Caramello, 1b.

Mrs. Joe Jason visited friends in San Jose Saturday.

A Service Willingly Given

Think on the value of your local newspaper

The dissemination of news by word of mouth is slow and inaccurate. Historical accounts have given us innumerable instances where the knowledge of a few vital facts may have greatly altered the trend of political and social events. One great, fearless, newspaper could have prevented the world war.

Means of communication, in keeping pace with the increased bustle of modern life, have become one of the most vital factors in business, but business is only one of the things served. Modern advertising and the diffusion of news have done away with the pastoral fringe. The city dweller is no better informed than his country cousin. In times of danger, an hundred Paul Reveres, no matter how picturesque and energetic, could neither warn nor advise as effectively as a single well read newspaper.

Rural newspapers play a part in community life fully as vital as that played by the rural courts, or by the corner grocery. The local newspaper's purpose is to carry local news, news that would otherwise be lost. Community organizations, business houses, merchants, and industries need the rural press. IT IS THE ONLY MEDIUM THROUGH WHICH THEY ARE HEARD. It is their messenger, where none other would serve.

In addition to its service within the community, the rural newspaper is the unifying link with which districts are united. A keen observer will have noticed the "clippings" from the local papers in the large metropolitan dailies. The home paper is the "correspondent" for the community.

Support your home paper. It serves a particular end, and its service cannot be duplicated.

PARENT-TEACHERS DISCUSS COMING ACTIVITIES

Members of the Niles Parent Teachers Association spent a busy Tuesday afternoon this week when they gathered at the Niles grammar school to discuss plans for a number of activities slated for the next few months.

Foremost among the projected affairs is a meetng scheduled for March 22, at which the local unit will be hostess to the East Alameda Council, which consists of twelve south county groups. The meet will be in the nature of a discussion of proposed legislation which will effect the public school system. James Bunker, assistant superintendent, will talk on pending legislative changes.

Plans for the compilation of the annual historian's report were discussed Tuesday, as well as mention made of nominations, and a reciprocity luncheon to be held later.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The subject chosen by Wesley Dexter Gordon for Sunday morning is one of great interest to thinking men and women, "The Idealism of Christ in Our World of Reality.

Sunday evening at seven o'clock, the Christian Endeavor will hold a regular devotional meeting after which plans for an Easter "dawn" service will be discussed. Every young person is cordially invited to be present. The Rev. Mr. Gordon asks every interested young person to come to the party, the particulars of which will be announced in this paper next week.

The first Sunday school to be held in Niles was held in the wareroom of the old Vallejo Mill in 1873. Mrs. Sarah T. King was superintendent, assisted by Mesdames Snyder, Woodward, Clough, Hennion and Plummer.

AMERICAN LEGION AND AUXILIARY PLAN JOINT MEET

April 11 is the date set by the American Legion Post 195 and the Ladies Auxiliary for a joint meet at the Memorial building in Niles, at which time the post members hope to secure as speaker their state commander, Homer Challaiux.

Discussion at the meet will consist of proposed and pending legislation that will effect the veterans.

Dancing and refreshments will follow the business meeting.

JUNIOR INSTITUTE INSTALLATION POSTPONED

Inabiltiy of the grand officers to be on hand this Sunday has postponed the founding of the Y. L. I. Junior institute until April 15, according to institute members this week.

Meeting on March 1, the Junior group elected the following officers: Isla Moise, president; Rose Kitania, vice-president; Jeanette Vieux, secretary; Marilyn Maciel, treasurer; and Yvonne Vieux, organist. The new officers will be installed and a group of thirty initiated on April 15, by a team from the Alameda Junior Institute. Meet will be in the I. O. O. F. hall.

Members of the Senior Institute will enjoy a St. Patrick fete tonight at the Odd Fellows' hall. Mrs. Mae Souza, of Centerville, has charge of arrangements.

TAKEN ILL

Mrs. H. Mosher was taken suddenly ill last Friday afternoon. She is resting at her home.

CHAMBER HEARS TALK BY ECONOMIST ON BUSINESS OUTLOOK

SIXTEENTH DISTRICT MEETS TODAY AT OAKLAND CLUB

Mrs. William J. Hayes, of Burlingame, president of the California Congress of Parent and Teachers, will be the honored guest at a luncheon to be given by the Sixteenth District, California Congress, today in the Women's City Club in Oakland. There will be a reception from 10:30 to 12:00. Llucheon will follow.

Mrs. Hugh Bradford, national president, will also be a guest. There will be a number of other state officials anl chairmen at the meet. Superintendent of the Alameda and Contra Costa schools and their wives will be guests, as will also a number of principals and teachers. Mrs. F. M. Clark will preside.

W. E. Givens, superintendent of the Oakland public schools, will be speaker. His subject will be "Education at the Cross Roads." Mrs. Grace Trenp will be soloist, accompanied by Ralph Dabadie. Mrs. C. G. Smith and Mrs. W. D. Barnham will supervise decorations.

Located where trails to the embarcaderos crossed the main east bay road through the Santa Clara Valley, Centerville grew steadily. Traffic through the town, recent tabulations show, is steadiest in southern Alameda county.

Years Previous To 1929 "Abnormal," Says F. Beckmann Monday

The "prosperity just around the corner" bubble was badly shattered for the members of the Niles Chamber of Commerce Monday when Frank Beckmann, business engineer, of San Francisco, addressed the civic group on the business outlook at the present time. Beckmann, speaking from wide experience in the industrial world, entitled his talk, "Getting Back to Normal."

Stating at the outset that he was not a pessimist, but was basing his conclusions on a long study of economic trends, Beckmann told the gathering that the "Normal" about which so much talk is heard, is an elusive thing. He asked if any member present could define the term. Beckmann said that the years from 1849 until the crash in 1929 were distinctly abnormal years, during which industrial and economic development was fostered at an unusual rate by a series of "booms" and "rushes."

He inferred that the cessation of these outside stimuli, and the slow intensification that relentlessly followed was bound to result in the advent of what he termed normal times, that is, the present state of affairs. The world war, Beckmann said, served in the nature of a further stimulus to a overswollen industrial system. Industry expanded beyond all reason during the years of conflict. Vicious competition and price cutting, in a frenzy to keep up war time production resulted in the disastrous times in which thousands of firms failed.

Beckmann said, in conslusion, that the outlook of the individual toward business and money must change. Hard work, he said, and a cheerful attention to the task at hand was the only hope for many years. He said that the change need be one only of mental attitude and sense of values.

Previous to Beckmann's talk, President F. V. Jones appointed the following to the membership committee for 1934: A. J. Petsche, E. E. Glassbrook, Harvey Braun and D. B. Colville.

Walter W. McAdam was a guest of the civic group for the meet.

being so bad on account of his self-assumed mismanagement, they are far better than the average, bad even as that may be. That was the experience of the writer. Business is in a pitiable state. While people are more hopeful, there is the serious question if, in fact, things are really better than they were three months ago. They are better than in last March. If they were not, we would not be running a newspaper, nor you your particular business. It was then either betterment or chaos.

So the writer returns to his task on his newspaper properties no richer, it is true, but with a little more faith in himself. And that in itself is a very valuable acquisition, acquired in a week's time.

We believe things are going to be alright. They always have righted themselves, and they will do so again. Courage, economy, honesty, vision and we are saved. The country will endure. There will be no dictatorship. The Republic will live. Its people will again prosper. Even better days are ahead.

Bend your shoulder to the task of the day, have faith in yourself,—and especially in your God—and the sun of happiness and plenty will soon break through the clouds of sorrow and fear.

CONGRATULATIONS, LIVERMORE!

Maitland Henry, publisher of the Livermore Herald, recently elected president of the California Newspaper Publishers' Association, has been swinging around the circuit during the past week. We crossed his path on many occasions while driving south on our recent vacation. Everywhere we went we heard fine words of praise for our fellow-publisher. His sincerity, lack of ostentation, keen knowledge of the needs of the profession at this crucial period was a matter of universal comment.

We are glad our friends over California are learning what we in this part of the state have always known—that Livermore is to be congratulated upon having so capable a newspaper publisher and citizen at Maitland Henry.

NEXT TUESDAY IS "CAROLINA" AT THE HAYWARD THEATER

Tonight concludes the three-day run of "Emporer Jones" at the Hayward theater. Paul Robeson, the great Negro star, plays the lead. On the same bill is the sophisticated Herbert Marshall in "I Was a Spy."

Tomorrow and Saturday nights is the feature "Should Ladies Behave" with Lionel Barrymore. Kane Richmond and Marion Burns add to the bill in "Devil Tiger." The big stage and fashion show will be Saturday evening.

"ou Can't Buy Everything" is a lesson that May Robson, as the shrewd matron, learns in the picture by that title coming Sunday and Monday nights. Jean Parker and Lewis Stone are in the cast. "HI Nellie" with Paul Muni is an added feature.

"Carolina," hailed by critics as one of the year's best comes to the Hayward Theater for a three-day run Tuesday, March 20. Janet Gaynor and Lionel Barrymore have leading parts. Chas. Farrell and Bette Davis are featured in the additional feature "The Big Shakedown." The Hayward Theater birthday cake will be cut Tuesday night.

"Kitchen Companions"
the first act on the Spring Program

WHO is usually the last one to come to the table? Isn't it Mother, with the gravy bowl and mashed potatoes? She sits down fagged out, almost too tired to eat, particularly in hot weather. It is all too true unless there is an electric range in the kitchen.

Then afterward there is the task of dirty dishes to be done with pots and pans to be scoured. Here too, unless hot water is automatically on tap there is the heavy tea kettle to be lifted from stove to sink. No wonder a woman's health breaks down.

In hundreds of homes this month Mother is getting the kitchen aids she has always wanted to make her housework quicker and easier. These hundreds of kitchens are being modernized with a new electric range and electric water heater—kitchen companions now being offered at lower prices and exceptionally easy purchase terms.

Operating costs of these kitchen companions have been cut due to the new low electric rate of one cent per kilowatt hour. You will be enthusiastic when you hear all the details. Your electric dealer or any office of this company can give you the facts. See them today.

The new low rate for cooking and water heating with a low block of one cent per kilowatt hour represents one of the lowest electric rates in America. Electricity gives you the most for every penny's worth you buy.

Amador High Dons Start Baseball Practice

Baseball practice at the Amador Valley high school started last week in full swing, according to Coach George Patterson.

The boys are showing considerable interest in the sport and prospects are that the Dons may turn out a good team. Joe Peters, Cintrone and Fred Dutra are the only regular players left from last years team.

In a practice game last Friday the Dons were defeated by Castlemont by a score of 22 to 2. The boys had no practice before this contest which accounted greatly toward the big score run up against them.

This afternoon they will motor to Hayward where they will meet the Farmers there.

The baseball schedule for the dons this year is as follows:

March 9, Friday, Dons at Hayward.

March 23, Friday, Dons at Deaf and Dumb, Berkeley.

April 3, Tuesday, Hayward, here.

April 13, Friday, Dons at Centerville.

April 20, Friday, Dons at Emeryville.

April 24, Tuesday, Dons at San Leandro.

April 27, Friday, Dons at Deaf and Dumb, Berkeley.

May 1, Tuesday, San Leandro, here.

May 4, Friday, Livermore, here.

May 11, Friday, Centerville, here.

It is not definitely known whether Livermore will compete in the baseball schedule. The schools in the league at present are Amador, Centerville, Emeryville, and the Deaf and Dumb.

LEGAL NOTICES

ELECTION PROCLAMATION

IN THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF ALAMEDA, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, REGULAR SESSION, TUESDAY, MARCH 6, 1934.

RESOLVED, that whereas the County Clerk of said County of Alameda has duly certified to this Board the list of candidates nominated for the office of director of the Alameda County Water District, said District being situated wholly within the boundaries of said County of Alameda, as required by the Act of June 10, 1913, designated as Chapter 592 of the Chaptered Laws of 1913, as amended, and it appearing to this Board that said certificate is in proper form and that said candidates have been nominated in the manner and within the time required by said Act, it is now

ORDERED, that an election be held on Tuesday, the 27th day of March, 1934, within said District, for the election of five directors of said District, and said election is hereby called and set for said time, and it is further

ORDERED, that the voters at said election shall be required to cast ballots for the office of director of said District, and that the number of directors to be then elected shall be five; that the ballots to be used at said election shall be substantially in the following form:

GENTRAL DISTRICT ELECTION, ALAMEDA COUNTY WATER DISTRICT, MARCH 27, 1934.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS: To vote, stamp or write a cross (X) opposite the name of the candidate for whom you desire to vote. To vote for a person whose name is not printed on the ballot, write his name in the blank space provided for that purpose. All marks otherwise made are forbidden and make the ballot void. If you wrongly mark, tear or deface this ballot return it to the inspector of election and obtain another.

For Director vote for five.

NILES DEFEATED BY RIDOLPHI DRUG TEAM SUNDAY

Big league baseball, played by an inspired Niles team Sunday afternoon, failed to result in a win, but it held the Class A Ridolphi Drug team to two runs. Final score was two to nothing.

Far and away the feature of the game was a triple play, a rare occurrance in any league, made by the Niles team in the sixth. Bally Pine, in right field, cut off a line drive, pegged quickly to Raso on second to catch the runner off the bag. Raso, in turn shot the seed to Piney at the plate to nail the runner from third.

Solidly behind the excellent pitching of Ray Duarte, the Niles nine played airtight ball. Only one error was made. Duarte allowed two runs and eleven scattered hits. A double play, Raso to Cull to Amyx was the high spot during the last innings. Jim Cull took the hitting banner with two for four.

Sunday the Niles team will tangle with the Oakland Athletic Club on the Niles grammar school field.

Games in the Southern Alameda County Class B league are slated to begin April 1.

Amador Junior Prom To Be Held on March 23

Plans for the Junior Prom to be held at the Amador high school gym Friday evening, March 23, are being made by the Junior class.

The affair which is held annually will be formal this year. Attractive decorations for the gym are being planned by the class. Alumni of the school must have a bid to be admitted to the dance and may have the same by calling at the high school anytime within the next two weeks. Each bid admits a boy and a girl but not two boys nor two girls.

The committees working on the affair are orchestra, Marjorie Perry, chairman, Milly Schmidt, Albert Chadbourne; decorations, Evelyn Boero, chairman, Bill Carey, Levia Marino, Sarah Uliana, Mary Hazel Wisely, Vernie Bernard, Doris Rasmussen, Milly Schmidt, and Kay Butler; Bids. Helen Rivolta, chairman, Helen Cronin; Cleanup, H. Moller, chairman, Fred Dutra, Carl Haas, and Walter Mondo.

ABATEMENT WORK SATISFACTORY, SAYS HEAD

Approximately 4 acres of mosquito breeding marsh west of Warm Springs and 275 acres of marsh on Dumbarton point were drained by CWA laborers during January and February, according to the monthly report of Harold F. Gray, Mosquito Abatement District engineer. Wages totalling $4,338.78 were paid CWA laborers, drawn from the ranks of unemployed residents of southern Alameda county, who were employed on these projects. Cost of supervisory labor and materials provided by the Mosquito Abatement District totaled $429.23.

Eleven miles of ditch excavated on these marshes completed approximately 65 per cent of the drainage contemplated before work was discontinued upon the reduction of Alameda County's CWA quota. Gray is endeavoring to secure a transfer of men from other projects with whom to complete drainage of the remaining unditched marsh.

Gray expressed himself as pleased with the efficiency displayed by men working on the drainage jobs.

Thousands have Ended their Bowel Worries
by taking this advice!

Can constipation be safely relieved? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say the many thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not likely to cure your constipation with salts, pills, tablets, or any of the habit-forming cathartics. But you can correct this condition by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

THE LIQUID TEST:

First: select a properly prepared liquid laxative. Second: take the dose you find suited to your system. Third: gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving of their own accord.

Simple, isn't it? And it works! The right liquid laxative brings thorough bowel action without using force. An approved liquid laxative (one which is most widely used for both adults and children) is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a doctor's prescription, and is perfectly safe. Its laxative action is based on senna—a natural laxative. The bowels will not become dependent on this form of help, as in the case of mineral drugs.

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. The dose can be measured, and the action controlled. Pills and tablets containing drugs of violent action are hard on the bowels.

If there are children in your household, don't give them any fad form of laxative, but use a healthful, helpful preparation like Syrup Pepsin. Its very taste will tell you it is wholesome, and agreeable to the stomach. Delightful taste, and delightful action; there is no discomfort at the time, or after. Ask your druggist for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, all ready to take.
